Fiona Sherburn, Deputy HR Director, NHS, Bradford

"I recently moved to a new role following an organisation merger which meant I was working over peers that I'd worked alongside for a very long time. I was already sold on the Business Partner concept and wanted the team to hear how it works and be sold on the concept from an external source I didn't want the team to feel uncomfortable hearing it from me. When I came across the workshop that Jane Burtoft was offering, I thought, perfect.

Jane was very pragmatic and tailored the workshop for the team, she delivered a first class workshop where energy levels were high throughout the day. I came away feeling extremely positive and with a team who were raring to get on with implementing new knowledge.

We have since implemented a great deal from the workshop and are extremely pleased with the outcomes to date.

The workshop for me was a very useful and positive experience".
